

Manardina

A Cosmic Viewpoint

E.T.s landed
and they do not look much like us!
But why should they in cosmic view?
Creators' experiments, new life forms fill universe, surprise
as we explore
and find cousins.
It is only human to stare.
Should we welcome, celebrate, cheer,
expect peace or cower in fear?
We have to believe in what comes—life expanded.

Transformational Beings

Light- beings change
from invisible energy
to diverse densities of form.
Beings that diverge from our norm.
Unseen dimensions harbor life.
Those faraway
we can not know.
But infinite beings elsewhere
should peak our keen sense of wonder,
raise questions for us to ponder.
We hope for loving light sources,
love-light exchange.

Manardina: Created by Nel Modglin

1. 60 syllables in 12 lines.
2. Syllable Count with Rhyme: 4a-8-8b-8b-8-4-4-8-8c-8c-8-4a