

Markette

Enlightening in a Room Full of Angels.

Candles in the window welcome us and glow.
They tell us something that deep down we know that with good friends creation will grow
now life will vibrate.

Angels on the walls, angels hang down on string,
lovely angels made of most anything.
Angel messengers joyfully bring us blessings outright..

In angelic room like this we all can write.
Angels give our muses some fresh insight.
These angels never squabble or fight
guided from above.

Light in whatever form helps us see and muse
and if we can't then we try to infuse
not to make sense but to amuse dispersed with our love.
