Perfection

Have no fear of perfection. You'll never achieve it...Salvador Dali

But do we strive for perfection?
Do we really need that burden?
Can't we just try to do our best?
I do not need to be perfect.

Do we really need that burden?
Is that what we are here to do?
Being human is imperfect.
We are not born with all we'd need.

Can't we just try to do our best?
Added to our other life tasks?
Can we actually know enough?
We can not ever do it all.

I do not need to be perfect.
It sounds rigid, too constricting.
If want to be creative, fly--
curious about imperfect.
